

I have lived in Idaho since 1989 and since that time have come to rely heavily on FM translators in order to receive national services. I depend on translators in order to receive quality broadcasting which is otherwise unavailable in my area. I enjoy many NPR programs and K-LOVE. In large rural states such as Idaho, translators are the only worthwhile radio that citizens can access. Please do not allow LPFM to take priority over the translator station. Thank you for your consideration, Paula B. Phelps
